

Legal information

Vinto | vinto.to | Updated 16 October 2026

Disclaimer

1. What Vinto does

Vinto finds and displays offers for flights, package tours and other travel services from third-party online sources, including public websites and channels. The website helps you find an offer and contact the seller. Displaying an offer does not mean that Vinto has verified or recommends the seller, or guarantees the safety of the transaction.

2. Purchases and payments

Vinto does not sell tickets or package tours, make bookings, or act as a party to a contract for travel services. We do not accept or hold users' money for purchases. You arrange and pay for a purchase directly with the seller or through your chosen third-party service. Vinto may receive separate remuneration from partner services; this does not constitute accepting your payment for a trip.

3. Checking sellers and the risk of fraud

Vinto cannot guarantee a seller's identity, authority, integrity or solvency, the authenticity of an offer, or fulfilment of a transaction. A contact, link or listing on the website is not confirmation of reliability. Before transferring money, independently check the seller, their details and authority, the purchase terms and the payment recipient. If you have doubts, do not transfer money until they are resolved. Checking the seller and deciding whether to buy remain the user's responsibility.

4. Accuracy of information and prices

Offers may become outdated, and prices, availability, dates and conditions may change. Automated processing and translation of source publications may produce errors or incomplete information. Prices in your selected currency may be converted and rounded for comparison; exchange rates, fees, the final amount and the payment currency may differ. Before paying, confirm with the seller the route, dates and times, airports, baggage, tour inclusions, change and refund rules, total price and payment currency. A displayed listing alone does not confirm a booking or guarantee a purchase on the stated terms.

5. Third-party services and limits of liability

The relevant sellers and service providers handle fulfilment, ticket issuance, delivery of services, cancellations and refunds under their own terms. Vinto does not control their actions, communications or payments with users, and does not guarantee recovery of money in a dispute or fraud case. To the extent permitted by applicable law, Vinto is not liable for third-party sellers' actions, their failure to fulfil obligations, or resulting losses.

6. Feedback

If you notice an error or a suspicious offer, report it through "Feedback" at the bottom of the website. Contacting Vinto does not replace contacting the seller, payment service or relevant authorities.